

The Linkages to Learning School Based Health Centers are a collaborative school based partnership of public and private agencies, schools, families and communities:

- Catholic University of America School of Nursing
- Children's National Medical Center
- Holy Cross Hospital
- Montgomery County Collaboration Council for Children, Youth & Families
- Montgomery County Department of Health and Human Services
- Montgomery County Public Schools
- YMCA Youth and Family Services, a branch of the YMCA of Metropolitan Washington
- Kensington Wheaton Youth Services, a program of the Mental Health Association of Montgomery County
- GUIDE Youth Services (Guide Program, Inc.)
- Maryland Governor's Office for Children

COMMUNITY LINKS

This information is available in an alternative format by calling 240.777.3494 or TTY 1.800.735.2258.

Montgomery County
Department of Health and Human Services
School Health Services
1301 Piccard Drive, Suite 4200
Rockville, Maryland 20850

Montgomery County Maryland

Providing comprehensive primary health care services, including medical care, dental care, mental health care and social services in a familiar and family-friendly environment.

BUILDING A HEALTHY, SAFE AND STRONG COMMUNITY – ONE PERSON AT A TIME

Children who are healthy are better prepared to learn and achieve academic success. The School Based Health Centers' staff help children and their families by providing services close to home – in their neighborhood school. The school nurse and school health room aide work together with the nurse practitioner, the physician, social services and mental health professionals and school staff to ensure that students and families can obtain the care and services they need to be healthy and socially secure in their community.

Montgomery County's Linkages to Learning School Based Health Centers provide easy access to health, social and support services in a friendly, familiar environment. In partnership with families and the community, they support children's health, well-being and readiness to learn.

For general information, please contact:

Joan Glick, RN-C, MSN, Nurse Administrator
joan.glick@montgomerycountymd.gov
Telephone: 240.777.3494
www.montgomerycountymd.gov/content/Linkages

To learn about more about the Linkages to Learning School Based Health Center at your school, please contact:

Students enrolled in the school based health centers, their siblings and selected community children in the Care for Kids program may receive the following health services:

- Medical care, including sports, camp and routine physical examinations
- Health screenings and immunizations
- Diagnosis, treatment, referral and comprehensive case management of acute and chronic illnesses
- Dental care
- Health education and health counseling
- Prescriptions and access to medications
- Laboratory testing

Children and families may also receive these services:

- Individual and group counseling for children, families and adults
- Case management services, including help with food, housing, legal and financial issues and assistance in accessing social services or health care
- Parenting and nutrition classes
- Preventive health education, through classes, health fairs and trained community health promoters
- Family literacy programs, including English for Speakers of Other Languages classes, computer classes and summer reading
- Tutoring and recreational programs for children

Montgomery County
Department of Health and Human Services

Douglas M. Duncan, County Executive
Carolyn W. Colvin, Director

